Vastrangam AI Engine

One studio, five engines, one file — content, image, video, design and publishing over one set of records, with an assistant that works offline.

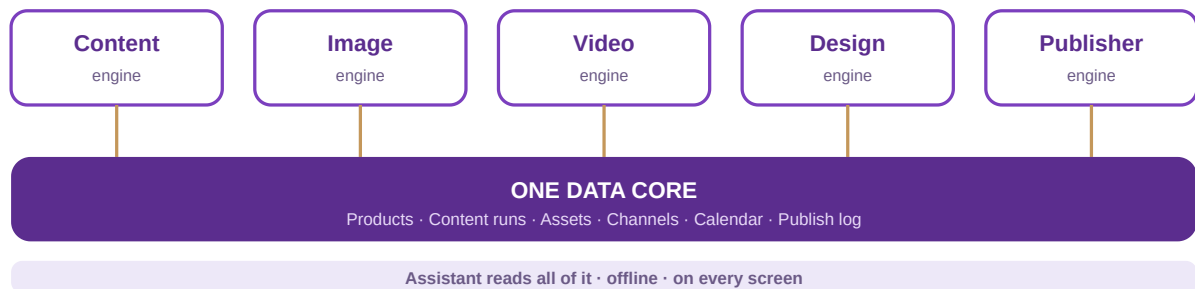

Desire to Attire · Crafted in Surat. Worn Everywhere.

Vastrangam_AI_Engine.html · 255 KB · works with the internet off · 18/18 self-tests pass

What it is

Five tools most people buy separately — a listing writer, a photo editor, a reel maker, a poster designer and a publishing scheduler — rebuilt as one HTML file that opens by double-click and runs with the internet switched off. They share one set of records, so a product you generate content for is instantly ready to design, film and publish. And on every screen there is an assistant that reads those records and answers in plain language.

The architecture, in one picture

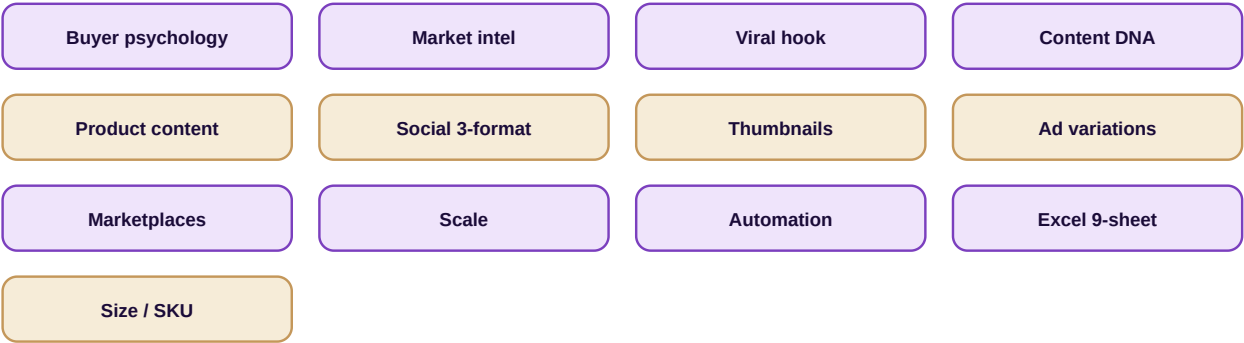

Five engines above, one data core beneath. Nothing is synced between the engines because there is only one set of records under all of them — which is the whole reason it is one app and not five.

The Content Engine

Type a product and press Generate. All 13 phases run offline, from the colour, fabric, craft and occasion libraries in the Vastrangam spec. A connected AI model is optional — it only upgrades the prose; the pack, the uniqueness check and the QA gate run without one.

<h1>Ruby Wine Roman Silk Zari Lehenga Choli for Reception</h1>

Turn around slowly. From the front it photographs like old money; the real trick is what happens when she moves. At barely 600g, roman silk moves with her – it does not wear her.

Look closer and the work shows itself: zari – metallic gold thread, woven or hand-applied – temple craft. Surat karigars still map it by hand, one motif at a time. Nothing about it is heavy; all of it reads expensive.

There is a specific panic that arrives about ten days before somebody else's wedding, and it is not about the reception. It is about the reception. You cannot wear red – that is hers. You cannot wear yellow, because the courtyard is already yellow and you will be furniture in every photograph. This is the case for a ruby wine lehenga choli – and specifically a fluid roman silk one that photographs like money and weighs almost nothing... (continues)

A real generated run — four title variants with character counts, a humanized Shopify body whose opening line never starts with the product noun, and the specification table with no blank cells.

The QA gate — machine-checkable

Every pack scores itself against ten checks before it ships. A fail means the pack should not go out as-is. This is the humanized-engine rulebook made into arithmetic.

Image Studio & Video Studio

Two real canvas engines, not mock-ups.

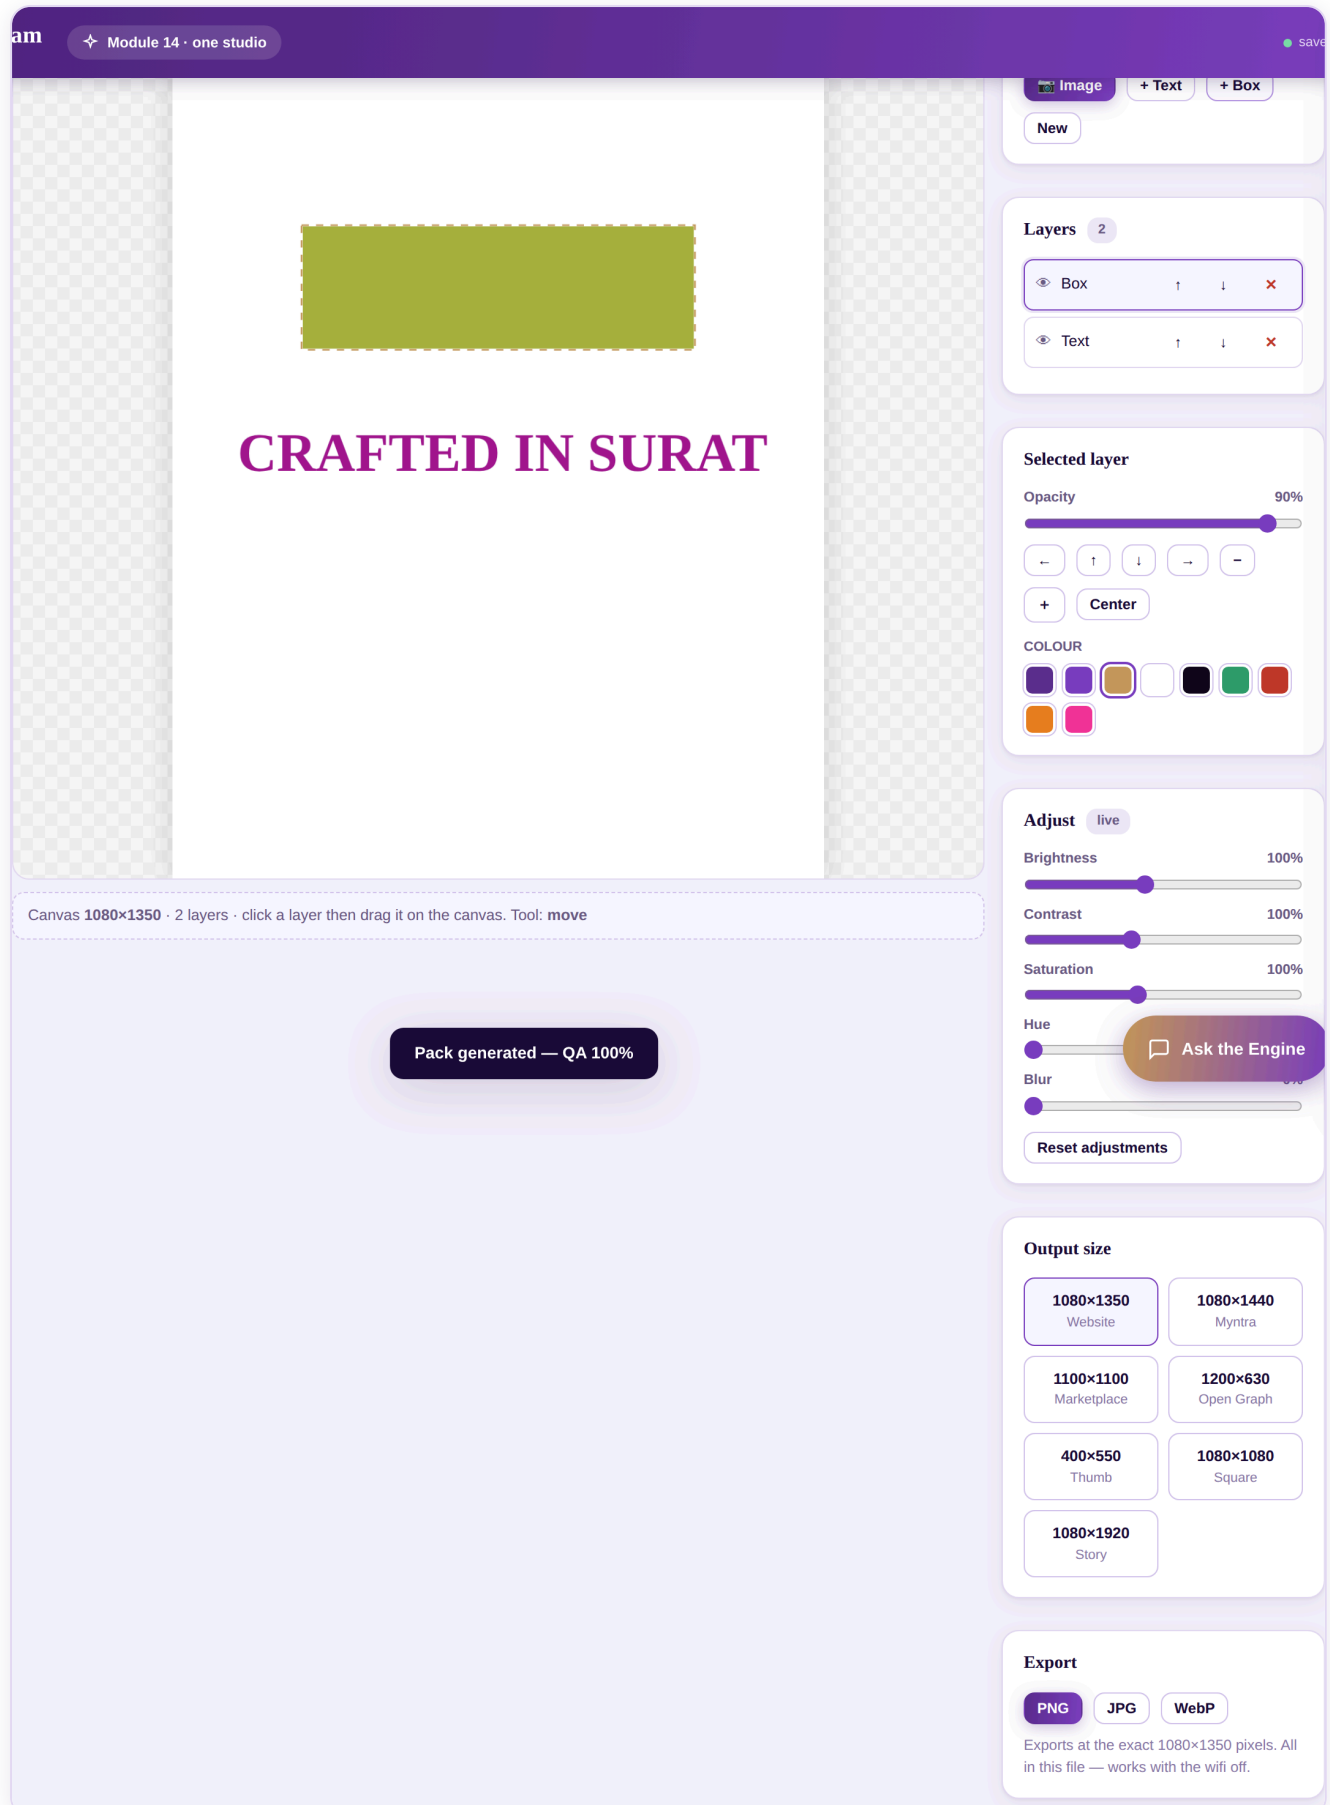

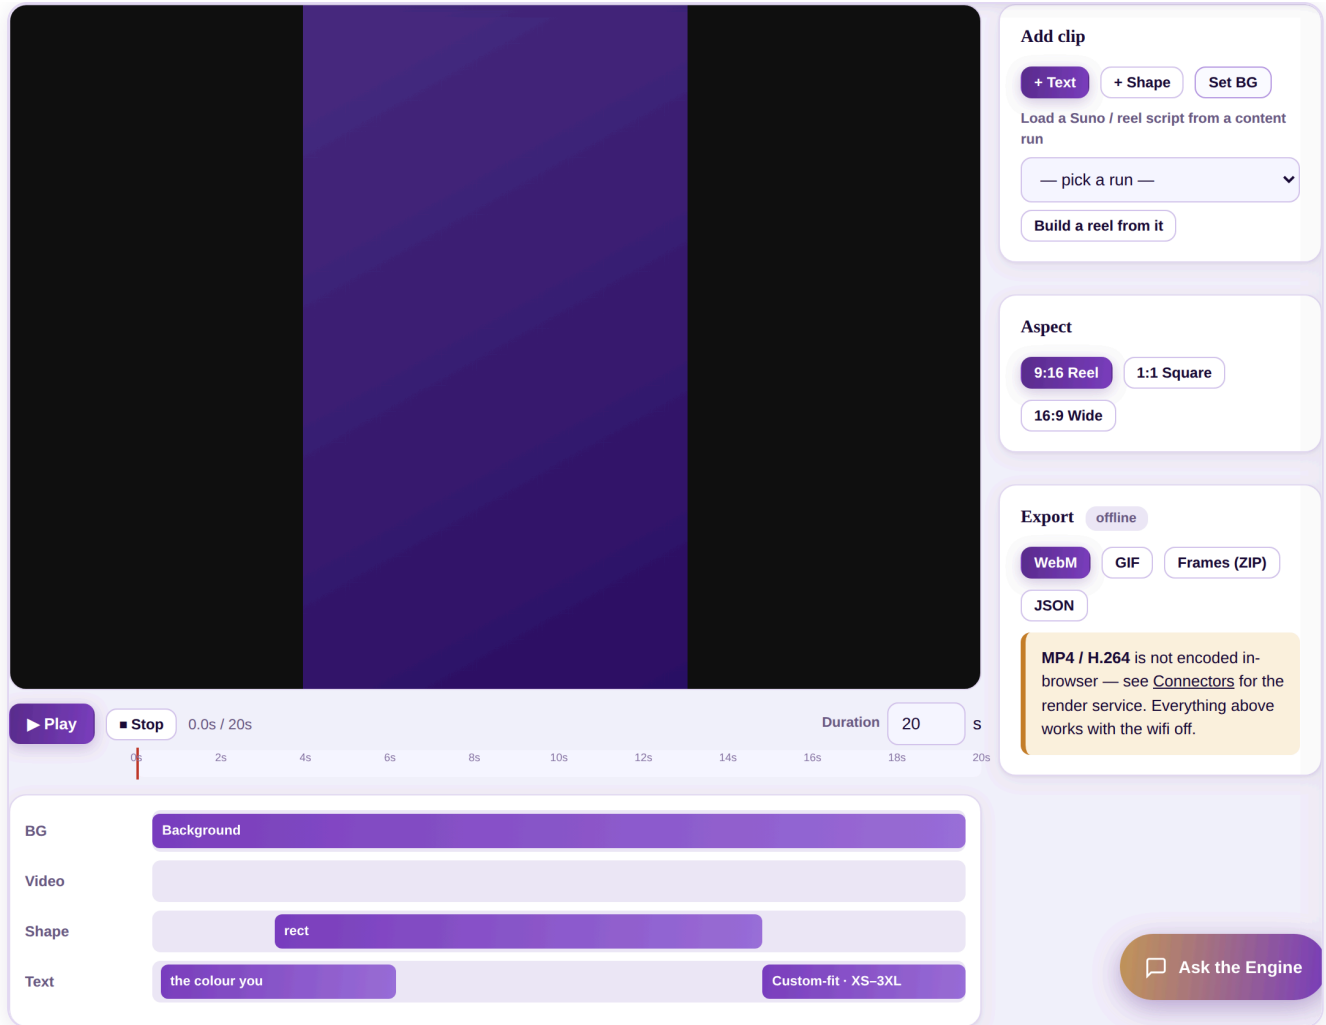

Image Studio — a layer stack (image, text, shapes), live brightness/contrast/saturation/hue/blur, seven marketplace output sizes, and PNG/JPG/WebP export at the exact pixels.

Video Studio — a timeline with keyframed clips over a live 9:16 preview. Exports WebM, an animated GIF and a PNG frame sequence, all offline. MP4/H.264 is a Connectors item because it genuinely needs a server.

Publisher — schedule a run to channels, see it on a live calendar, publish, and watch the log. Channels connect with a scoped, revocable key — never a password.

The assistant — on every screen, offline

The built-in engine reads your live records, knows every screen, defines any fabric/colour/craft/occasion term, looks up any SKU, and can open any screen. It needs no internet and no key. Connect a model only if you also want free-form chat.

Ask the Engine, answering a vocabulary question with the source it read from.

It answers things like

"how many runs do I have?"	live count
"what's my QA score?"	from every run
"how do I make a reel?"	the steps
"what is zardozi?"	from the library
"what is VAN2094?"	the product record
"open Content Engine"	navigates

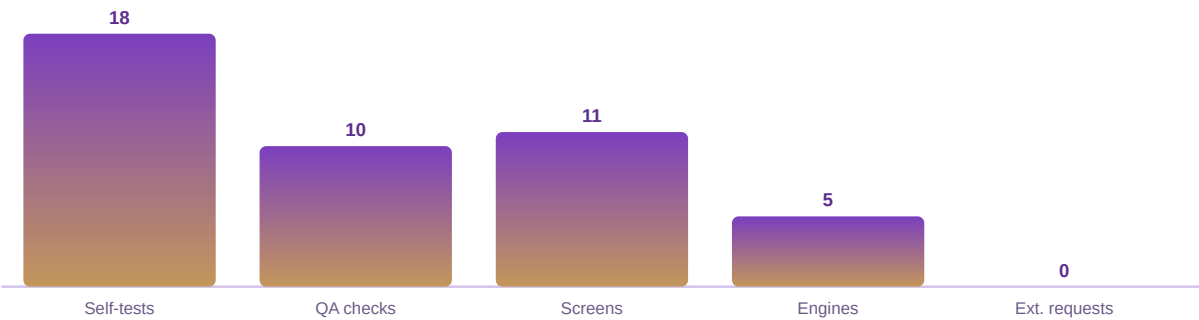

It will never ask for a password. Channels use scoped keys only. If any screen asks for a marketplace, bank or account password, it is not this app.

No lock-in, and how it was verified

Every capability has a built-in offline way

Capability	Built-in (offline)	Or plug in
AI text / chat	rules engine	Claude · GPT · Gemini · Ollama...
Video render	WebM · GIF · frames	FFmpeg · Remotion (for MP4)
Spreadsheets	built-in .xlsx/.csv	Google Sheets · Excel
Automation	webhook JSON	Make · n8n · Zapier
Publishing	payload + log	Shopify · Amazon · Meta...

Verified in a real browser

18/18 self-tests pass · the app was driven through every screen with zero console errors · with all non-file requests blocked it still generates a full pack — 0 external requests. It is genuinely offline.
